...landing Am I the only one who is getting so sick of seeing that rectangle floating down the screen? I have to move my mouse to see it, and I'm sick of that. Screensaver : REAL 3D No Gimmicks Floating Rectangle Flippin' great screensaver : Real 3D No Gimmicks Floating Rectangle This screensaver is floating a full screen representation of a rectangle. It's 'real' 3D, no gimmicks. The rectangle slowly descends, and a new one will be placed somewhere else on your screen. The position of the rectangle can be controlled by pressing the '+' or '-' keys. You can make the rectangle move faster by pressing the 'R' key. The shape is controllable by the d-pad. The speed of the 3D effect can be controlled by holding the 'L' key while moving the d-pad. A quick tour of the settings that have been added to the main 'Default' settings screen. These are the default settings of the application and can be accessed by clicking on the About icon on the main menu. Pressing the HOME button on your phone lets you see the hidden settings. Just scroll through the menus until you find a setting that you want to change. The last three screenshots have been taken directly from the application, and do not reflect my Android phone settings. I'm just finishing up my first version of my favorite screensaver :

EVOLUTION. I have 5 screens, one with the default settings, and 4 with custom settings that I have been using. I used to create the screensaver using a combination of LiveWallpaper and Desktop Wallpaper. Now I'm using LiveWallpaper only, as I want to clean up my Android and eliminate the wallpapers from LiveWallpaper. There are two reasons for this: 1. I want my phone to have an "iLock" type of lock screen. This will lock the apps running on my phone, except for my widgets and a shortcut to the Home screen. 2. It was becoming too complicated for me to set up the widgets and get rid of the widgets after creating the screensaver, as I was doing it one at a time. I'm now doing it all at once. I have found a way to incorporate your widgets into the wallpapers and make it very easy to create them.
